Alumni Officers Send Bulletins To 1100 Former Students In 27 States

Pictured above are 1952 officers of the J. J. C. Alumni Association completing their major project for the approaching Homecoming festivities. With the assistance of Miss Dorothy Stone, Alumni sponsor, the group mailed announcements to all former students whose addresses were available.

President Jack Parker, who is now active in his father's business, graduated from J. J. C. in 1946 after serving two and a half years in the Armed Forces. Later, he attended Washington University and obtained a degree in Business. For two years he was youth director of the Y. M. C. A. in Kansas City, Missouri. Mr. Parker, who now takes part in youth leadership in Joplin, speaks of himself as a "joiner." As evidence he points to his membership in the Junior Chamber of Commerce, the Elks Club, and the American Legion. While a student here, Jack was President of the Student Senate, President of the Y. M. C. A., a member of the Dramatics and Spanish Clubs, and Sports Editor for The Chart.

Both Mr. Elroy Thomas, Vice-President, and his wife, the former Miss Martha Kassab, graduated from J. J. C. in 1942. From the University of Missouri, Mr. Thomas received a degree in Law and his wife a degree in Business. Mrs. Thomas is a former President of Beta Beta Beta and Queen of the Crossroads. Not only Mr. and Mrs. Thomas attend meetings of the Alumni officers, but also their little son, Tony. The Thomases are residents of Joplin where Mr. Thomas is a member of a law firm.

Mrs. Alice Houston Buzzard, Secretary-Treasurer, graduated from J. J. C. with the class of 1942. She is now employed by the Crown Coach Company in Joplin. As a business student, she worked on the Crossroads and was Vice-President of the Beta Beta Beta sorority.

Miss Mary Megee and Miss Sally Netzeband, Board Members, graduated from J. J. C. in 1951. Miss Megee is now attending the University of Arkansas. While at J. J. C., she was Parliamentarian of the Student Senate and Editor of the class section of the Crossroads. Miss Netzeband is employed by a local mining company. She was an outstanding General Business student and a member of the choir.

Drawings Go On Exhibit

The current exhibit in the popular display case on the first floor features drawings and materials from the Engineering Drawing Department. Work seen in the arrangement is by Dick McFerrin, John Nolan, Warren Pearson, Jim Morris, Ralph Crandall, and Richard Sandy.

J. J. C. to Be Dismissed

School will be dismissed on Thursday and Friday, November 27-28, for the Thanksgiving vacation period. All schools in Joplin will observe the Thanksgiving season with assemblies on Wednesday, November 26.

N. Y. S. G. Presents Art Show For Last Time Today

Friday will be the last day to see the present colorful showing of original paintings from the New York Studio Guild. This art collection is the second in a series of exhibits to be presented here by the Guild, which circulates the works of many contemporary American artists.

Mary J. Spenser, Jane Peterson, John Bryans, and Roland Tiemann contributed this display of water colors, which show scenes from the American Southwest, Italy, and the tropics.

The library has been open from 7 to 9:30 o'clock on Wednesday evenings in order that the general public could view the lively exhibit.

Parade to Highlight Homecoming With Game and Dance Following

Plans are nearly completed for J. J. C.'s annual Homecoming, Wednesday, November 26, according to Ed Hill, chairman of the Homecoming planning committee. The day-long activities will be featured by a Homecoming parade scheduled to move at 1:00 p. m. Floats, marching units from district high schools, and cars carrying the candidates for queen are expected to comprise the body of the parade of which Robert Heater, instructor of speech, is to be marshal. Forming at B and Main, the line-of-march will proceed south on Main to Tenth, thence to Junge Stadium for the Homecoming game with Oklahoma Military Academy.

Immediately preceding the kickoff at 2:30, Her Majesty, 1952-1953, will be crowned by the team captain. Five candidates who were selected by the J. J. C. Lions are competing for the title. One of these young women—Amy Hobart, Suzie Stinson, Mary Brookshire, Joan Holman, or Diana Martin, will be elected queen by the team. She will succeed Donna Ackerman who was Pigskin Princess for 1951-1952.

That evening, from 8:30 to 11:00, Her Majesty and her attendants will be presented to the Homecoming Ball where she will be given a token of remembrance of her reign. Music for the dance, to which all alumni, students, and faculty are invited, will be provided by the popular Tri-State Orchestra.

Besides Ed Hill, Vice-President of the Student Senate, other Student Senators serving on the planning committee are Virginia Newby, Jo Vannoy, Carol Lou Clark, Sally McLain, Don Michael, Suzie Ranum, Mary Brookshire, Jim Gaskill, Patty Gray, and Miss Eula Ratekin, faculty sponsor.

College Theatre to Begin December 4 With Production of 'Light Up the Sky'

Opening night for the College Players' winter production, "Light Up the Sky," is set for December 4. The Moss Hart comedy, which enjoyed a very successful run on Broadway, will play for three nights.

Dick Pond, topnotch student artist is executing the difficult set with the help of Virgil Boyd.

Kell Installs '52 Gift

Two stone benches engraved with large '52's have recently been placed, side-by-side, near the walk north of Blaine Hall. The class of 1952 purchased the benches for $37 with money raised by a class party and from the sale of invitations.

Mr. Kell, supervisor of grounds for the Joplin school system, directed the installation.

Charles Butler was president of the class of '52; Miss Martha McCormick and Mr. James Willey were the faculty sponsors.

The set, along with the rest of the play, is progressing on schedule and everything is expected to be ready for the December opening. Mr. Robert Heater, the director, and the College Players of the past have presented such fine productions as "Harvey," "Good-bye, My Fancy," and "Our Town." "Light Up the Sky" promises to repeat the same success for the College Players.

The cast includes: Miss Lowell, Amy Hobart; Carleton Fitzgerald, John Braeckel; Frances Black, Sally Funk; Owen Turner, Bob Bealmer; Stella Livingston, Marilyn Juhnke; Peter Sloan, Bob Olin; Sidney Black, Leonard Moffet; Irene Livingston, Martha Medcalf; Tyler Rayburn, Joe McKinney; Sven, Ralph Cyphers; a Shriner, Ed Hill; William H. Gallagher, Warren Pearson, and a plain-clothesman, Virgil Boyd.

Mr. Heater reminds students to use their activity tickets which, as usual, will serve as their admissions.

Alumni Impress Students Who Listen to Reminiscing

During the past few weeks, and it happens about the same time each year, quite a few members of past classes have come by the College and have happened in to chat a while or just to look around. It always gives us a good feeling when they do for we realize that they have been through the same "mill" and have been the better for it.

Yes, most of them seem to have done pretty well for themselves. Doctors, engineers, teachers, lawyers, businessmen, artists, those who have chosen military careers, and those who are finishing in four-year colleges: J. J. C. is represented by them all. And the College is proud of them, truly. They may have been "problems" when they were in school here, but that time is passed and forgiven and we sentimentally joke over such little incidents now.

Some things, however, we cannot joke about. J. J. C. lost many in that seemingly useless struggle which ended a little over seven years ago. Becoming a little more reserved, we pass, too, over those who did not die in battle, those students and members of the faculty who were stilled while living a normal life. We are saddened, yet we are silently thankful that we have yet some time to express ourselves.

Someone snaps us back out of our reverie, someone who remembers that old jalopy So-and-So used to drive, or that "character" who is now making twenty thousand a year, or that So-and-So and So-and-So are now parents of twins. Such talk goes on and on; it never seems to become old stuff.

Homecoming being just a few days away, we are expecting much more of the same kind of goings-on when our alumni and students get together for those few hours. Indeed, the day promises to be an enjoyable one. Alumni, we welcome you and the memories you bring with you.

We Do Have Compliments For the Football Players

For the last issue of The Chart, I wrote an editorial in which I stated that the coach should not be blamed for a losing team. Since that time various people have pointed out to me that the fellows on the team are not to blame either. They're putting out plenty of work and sweat, and many times, blood, and, undermanned as they are, have given every opponent all the fight they had. I certainly am in accord with these feelings. The only thing that caused me to write only of the coach in the earlier article was the belief that both the coach and the team could not be fairly complimented at the same time.

As I pointed out previously, we do not have any "hired help" playing ball for us. These fellows are out there for the school, the student body, and the fun they get out of it for themselves. And I for one don't feel that's a trite expression, especially in these days of athletic overemphasis at most colleges.

I recall sitting high in Junge Stadium earlier in the season and seeing things I won't soon forget: 150-pound Sam Crampton coming out of his linebacker spot to nail a ball carrier, usually one outweighing him by about 20 pounds; 155-pound Jack Dale making a circus catch, only to be knocked down moments later by a crushing tackle; and 150-pound Ed Hill blocking and tackling like mad, in spite of various injuries.

Did you see things like that this year? Did you see a light, inexperienced team fight against tremendous odds? Always game, always trying, regardless of the score. Did you see? If not, you should start supporting the team. Go to the Homecoming game. Sit up in the stands and cheer as those boys on the field play their hearts out. Then, when the game's over and you're leaving, I think you'll know what real courage is.—Sanford Dorbin.

Looking Around

By Janus

The election is over, the rains have come, and already there are those students who are beginning to worry about the "second six" weeks' grades. They incidentally did not take the hint when the "I" and "F" slips came out the first time. For this one, I have finally "come across with some inside connections for A-1 midnight oil and aspirin." Anyone who needs any extra, better come up and see me sometime.

Before too many hours have passed, the "old ones who have gone on before" will be making their way back to dear old J. J. C. for the annual Homecoming. The morning after the night before they will awaken to find that the old flesh and bones just will not take the punishment they used to, the open air, the catchy tunes, etc. Time surely does march on and so very often it tramples on some of us very heavily.

Speaking of sad awakenings, what is this about the "stiffs" in the boys' P. E. classes? One hears, and feels, so much about the strenuous exercises that the Coach is putting the young gentlemen through. "One and two and three and four! Don't let that stomach sag! Keep those knees straight!" Groan.

The football season being nearly over, many a young woman's fancy is "lightly" turning to thoughts of basketball players. Sad indeed is the football devotee, his glory fading and his thoughts wondering "What's become of Sally?" Well, not necessarily "Sally" either.

And so to sleep.

Could These Be Ways To Avoid I and F Slips?

Here are "10 Ways to Get Through College Without Even Trying," as written in Pageant magazine by Prof. Robert Tyson of Hunter college:

1. Bring the professor newspaper clippings dealing with his subject. If you don't find clippings dealing with his subject, bring in clippings at random. He thinks everything deals with his subject.

2. Look alert. Take notes eagerly. If you look at your watch, don't stare at it unbelievably and shake it.

3. Nod frequently and murmur "How true!" To you, this seems exaggerated. To him, it's quite objective.

4. Sit in front, near him. (Applies only if you intend to stay awake) ..

5. Laugh at his jokes. You can tell. If he looks up from his notes and smiles expectantly, he has told a joke.

6. Ask for outside reading. You don't have to read it. Just ask.

7. If you must sleep, arrange to be called at the end of the hour. It creates an unfavorable impression if the rest of the class has left and you sit there alone, dozing.

8. Be sure the book you read during the lecture looks like a book from the course. If you do math in psychology class and psychology in math class, match the books for size and color.

9. Ask any questions you think he can answer. Conversely, avoid announcing that you have found the answer to a question he couldn't answer, and in your younger brother's second reader at that.

10. Call attention to his writing. Produces an exquisitely pleasant experience connected with you. If you know he's written a book or an article, ask in class if he wrote it.

If You Have Read Any of the 365 New Library Books Not Prescribed, How About Giving Us Your Opinion?

Believing that many Joplin Junior College students do not realize the large number of entertaining and informative, non-required books purchased this year for the school library, The Chart staff offers to print comments upon the ones you have read. If those of you who have read one new book not assigned will take time to jot down your impressions and bring them to us, the entire student body will profit.

Below you find the comments of two students upon books of vastly different subject matter, which they have read.

So Long to Learn

By John Masefield

On mention of the word "autobiography," one generally thinks of a book giving the chronological happenings in the life of the subject. In the autobiography of John Masefield, however, we see not so much the step-by-step advance of Mr. Masefield's career as a literary figure, but more of an inward growth and development of thinking of Masefield the story-teller.

In the early pages of So Long to Learn we see the influence of stories heard in childhood upon the imagination of a youth that would some day become one of the most recognized men of letters.

Masefield, who describes himself as a moody and impressionable young man, says of his early writing days:

"Those who were young in that time will remember the passion for writing that seemed to fill the air."

Perhaps this passion was partly the result of the unrest of the times, for these were the times of the "ists." All young writers were Symbolists, Realists, Imperialists, or Fresh-Air-ists. Each group sought the truth. As a result, we see how young men who wanted to write were infected with this unrest and how their search for the truth gave them much about which to write. They looked for a perfection of style in writing. Masefield leads us along this search for perfection and we see how leading writers have set the style of the day.

So Long to Learn does not dwell with the struggles of a young writer to achieve greatness. It gives a picture of the moods and sensitivities of John Masefield and of his desire and need to write. Writing, to this man, was not a means but a must. He was touched by the times in which he lived and the styles of writing that were popular during that time.

If I were asked to reclassify this book, I would call it a how-to-do-it book. It shows very clearly how a boy with a vivid imagination and a passion to write developed his talent to become master storyteller, playwright, and poet laureate of England.

Anyone interested in writing, or in the field of literature will read this book with growing interest from beginning to end. It is a completely new story of John Masefield told by the great storyteller himself.

The People's Choice

By

Lazarsfeld, Berelson, and Gaudet

People's Choice shows how the voter makes up his mind in a presidential campaign. Three noted authorities on the subject of political science—Paul Lazarsfeld, Bernard Berelson, and Hazel Gaudet—wrote the book. Mr. Roper, the noted survey executive, helped them. Working under the University of Columbia research department of political science, the group combined all their talents and skills to produce The People's Choice.

The survey, which is used throughout the book, is the coverage of the 1940 presidential election between Wilkie and Roosevelt in Erie County, Ohio. The researchers began gathering data for the book weeks before either party convention and continued until a couple of days after the final election.

The book deals with the reasons why people vote a certain way because of their classification in a certain area. The investigators compiled their data from answers to a battery of questions asked each individual pertaining to his preference for candidate. One gets an idea as to the magnitude of the task this survey accomplishes when he considers only one small part, that of the shifting of votes from one candidate to another. Questions answered here include:

(a) What kind of people are likely to shift?

(b) Under what influence do these shifts come about?

(c) In what direction are the shifts made?

People's Choice is a direct book and to the point. Graphs and charts clarify the results. Many particular examples give the reader a better concept of the relationship. Few descriptive terms are used. For the reader seeking strictly pleasure, the book would be quite an obstacle to overcome. People's Choice, written with a definite goal in mind, keeps directly to the facts at hand without partial wavering from its point to one side or the other.

I Stand Alone in Night

by Fred Smith

My gods have fallen in upon me and I am left alone
holding pieces, broken fragments of shrines and relics.

In black of night I must again begin to build new hopes:
my tools my hands,
my stones the pieces
of once wonderful ambitions.

Now more or less speaking strictly
I would like to gain profit from this endeavor.
Shall I offer odds, bookmaker?
One out of five? One out of ten?
Long shot at best, don't you think?

My gods I say must rise but thick brackish water of forgotten dreams runs from me.

I need material.

Young Leads J. C.
With 13 Points

Coach Don Testerman's varsity cagers successfully opened a 17-game 1952-1953 slate by downing a strong Camp Crowder quintet 56-51 on the loser's boards. Bob Young paced a balanced Lion attack with 13 points, tallied up on three field goals and seven charity throws.

A large measure of the Lions' success can be counted to their ability to hit from the free throw line and their very good defensive attack. The Lions converted 26 charity tosses.

Johnny Myers and Charles Kenney aided the Lions' drive with 12 and 11 points respectively. Moeckle of Camp Crowder took scoring honors for the game, however, with 17 points. Mrozowis and Davis of the camp came through with 11 and 10 points respectively.

Joplin took an early lead with the first quarter ending 9-5. This leadway they never relinquished, the halftime margin being 17 points, 26-9. This margin was trimmed to 42-39 at the end of the third quarter.

Coffeyville Trips J. J. C. 41-0 At Junge Field
As Lions Rushing, Passing Attacks Fail

Sparked by a dazzling passing attack good for 265 yards, the Red Ravens of Coffeyville rolled over the J. J. C. Lions 41-0 Friday night, October 31, on the Lions' home ground.

The Ravens coupled their passing game with a defensive stand that limited the Lions to only 35 yards rushing and 56 yards passing.

The Lions' only scoring threat came in the final period when they started a sustained drive from their own 41 and moved the ball down to the Kansas' seven with Bill Byrd contributing most of the yardage. But Zezza of Coffeyville ended the threat when he intercepted a pass intended for Condia Ellison in the end zone.

The Ravens managed to score in each quarter. Bob Starr tallied twice in the first quarter and Zezza added another in the second. A 40-yard sprint by Don Lee gave the Ravens a third period touchdown and on the first play of the fourth quarter Chuck McGovern connected on a pass to Gene Baxter in the end zone. Coffeyville iced it up on a 20-yard touchdown pass from Johnny Jenkins to Bill Jarvis in the final minutes of play. Art Matlock booted five extra points.

Previously, Joplin had bowed to the Parsons' Cardinals 26-12 in a game played October 25.

Fresh from a smashing 31-6 upset victory over Fort Scott, the Lions journey to Booneville today for a game with Kemper Military Academy. This is the last road game of the year for Coach Dudley Stegge's gridders who hope to have begun a winning streak for Joplin Junior College.

The Lions close out the season next Wednesday, November 26, in the Homecoming encounter with Oklahoma Military Academy. Following the parade, the game will be called at 2:30 in Junge Stadium.

Basketeers of 1948
Follow Many Walks
Of Life As Writer

At Homecoming we usually honor all our athletic alumni by paying tribute to one Lion team of the past. So, this time the spotlight is on the basketball cagers of 1948, who were described by The Chart that year as "a rough and tumble outfit."

It was a thrilling season from the fans' viewpoint, with many hardfought, exciting games. High point of the season was a 78-47 drubbing of a strong Hannibal team who had defeated the Lions in a close contest earlier in the season. Here is limited information about members of that aggregation.

Jack Hadley, who now resides at 219 N. Washington in Neosho, attended the University of Missouri following graduation from J. J. C. in 1948. Married to the former Mary Alice Dabbs, he is employed by the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company.

George Hosp, a graduate of '48, lives on Route 2, Galena, Kansas.

Charles Nealy now makes his home in Purcell, Missouri. Charles, who graduated from J. J. C. in 1949, works here in Joplin at John's Market.

Floyd Belk, one of our better-known alumni, is more completely covered in the article telling of J. J. C. graduates employed in the Joplin School System.

Fred Daugherty first attended J. J. C. in 1942, when he entered the service. After he returned to school following the war, he took part in many extra-curricular activities, one of which included editing the athletic sections of The Crossroads. Fred continued his studies at Iowa State College and K. S. T. C. His home is 2121 Kentucky here in Joplin.

Keith Adams, who was with the pre-engineering group of '49 lives in Neosho.

Bob Adams and Jack Wilson, both veterans, Austin Lonberg, and John Inman of Webb City, were also members of that team. They, too, were pre-engineering majors.

Phyllis Norton is in Southern Methodist University, Dallas.

Lions Boot Fort Scott
31-6 in First Win
Since 1950 Season

Crampton, Byrd, Lacey Star
For Joplin in Brilliant Game

A fired up Lion team scored their first victory since 1950 by crushing Fort Scott 31-6 in Junge Stadium, November 5. Paced by the hard running of Bill Byrd and Condia Ellison, who ripped the Fort Scott line to shreds, a powerful offense ground out 287 yards in snapping the 14-game losing streak. The defense, paced by Sam Crampton and Terry Lacey, played savage, airtight ball in a game termed by Coach Dudley Stegge as "a great team victory."

The Lions in the first quarter, after holding the Greyhounds to seven yards in 4 plays, moved the ball to Fort Scott's one in 7 plays and then Bill Byrd scored on a line back. After the kickoff the Lions again held Fort Scott to one yard in 4 plays and took over on the 38-yard line of Fort Scott. The Lions roared on and lead 18-0 at halftime.

Bill Byrd scored early again in the third quarter on a 37-yard run and then made his only conversion of the evening. Joplin's final tally came on a pass by Berry and a one-foot buck by Ellison.

The lone score of the Greyhounds to ruin Joplin's whitewash came in the waning moments of the game. Parsons' McCellon intercepted a pass on the Lions' 39 and then moved to the 13 where they were stopped.

Joplin's starting lineup:

- L. E. Jack Dale
- L. T. Ralph Cyphers
- L. G. Bob Niswonger
- C. Bob Roller
- R. G. Ed Hill
- R. T. Ronnie Fly
- R. E. Bill Huddleston

Tom O'Hara was guest speaker at a meeting of the Y.W.C.A. luncheon club recently. After graduation from J. J. C. in '46, he spent six months with the armed forces in the European theater. He received his A. B. degree in '48 and his M. A. in '51. Since that time he has served eleven months in Korea, and his talk was based on that country. Later, he presented a program of slides at Miss Coffey's home for a group of teachers and other interested persons.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Skelton (Rosemary McIntire) and daughter, Sherry, have moved to Wichita, Kansas, where Mr. Skelton has been transferred.

Mrs. Everett Reniker (Gene Keith) and daughter, Sherry Jo, have returned to Joplin from Heidelberg, Germany, where they have been living. Lt. Col. Reniker will join his family here in April. Clyde Wayne Allen, '48, visited J.J.C. in October. He is a staff assistant in the Bell Telephone Office in St. Louis where he is also studying under the Management Training Program. After his graduation from J. J. C., Clyde received his Bachelor's degree from the University of Arkansas in '51. James N. Mauldin, class of '40, visited J. J. C. recently. He is

Opportunities in Optometry
Optometry is a profession offering special advantages to ambitious young men and women. Its scope is constantly expanding. Eighty per cent of the Nation's millions depend upon the Doctor of Optometry and his professional skill in conserving vision. There is a shortage of optometrists in many States.

The Doctor of Optometry possesses the dignity of being a professional man. He renders an essential service to the health and well-being of his community. Substantial financial rewards are obtainable almost from the beginning of his practice.

U. S. Department of Defense and Selective Service grant optometry students the same consideration accorded medical students.

The Doctor of Optometry degree can be earned in three college years by a student having sixty or more semester hours of Liberal Arts credits. Such students will be admitted at mid-year by Chicago College of Optometry.

Chicago College of Optometry is centrally located in the heart of the world's greatest center for teaching in the healing arts. It is nationally accredited and is splendidly equipped. Clinical facilities are unsurpassed.

Alma Henley has accepted a position as continuity writer for station WSDR in Sterling, Illinois.

Vera Goodwin has returned from Japan after serving for two years as program director for army service clubs in the Far East. Before her last assignment at Camp Otsu, Japan, she was with clubs in Koyi-do, Korea, and Kyoto, Japan. Miss Goodwin, a graduate of the University of Oklahoma, was formerly a reporter with the Joplin Globe and News Herald. For a time she was employed as publicity director for the Washington Club in Seattle.

Jack Duree was named Joplin's outstanding young man of the year by the Joplin Chamber of Commerce, entitling him to the annual "Key Man" award. He was selected for the honor by a three-member committee of the city's leading citizens who chose from a list of names submitted by a large number of businessmen. Jack is a salesman for the National Cash Register Co. He is married and has two children, a son and a daughter. At present, he is serving as chairman of the Christmas parade committee.

Kathleen Crane sailed this autumn for Japan and on to Korea for a three-year assignment with the board of missions of the Methodist Church. She is a journalism graduate of the University of Missouri and will probably be assigned to Pusan for work with the Korean Literature Society. Kathleen is one of forty-seven students for the "Asia-3" program conducted this summer at Hartford, Conn. While attending J. J. C., Kathleen was editor of The Crossroads.

Bill Weaver has left the New York stage and gone to Hollywood where he has appeared in several motion pictures. He has completed an engagement at the Circle Theater, playing opposite Shelly Winters in a stage production of "A Streetcar Named Desire." He received very good notices for this performance in all the Los Angeles newspapers. Bill starred in athletics as well as dramatics at Joplin High School, J. J. C., and later at Oklahoma University where he was graduated shortly after World War II. His wife is the former Gerry Stowell of Joplin.

Edwin M. Bell, 4722 County Line Road, R. F. 1, No. 5, Kansas City, Kansas, is an engineer with the Bendix Aviation Corporation. Glenn E. Bell, 6007 Brookside, Kansas City, Missouri, is a deputy collector of Internal Revenue.

Last week Lonnie Chapman took over the role of Uta Hagen's leading man in the Broadway comedy, "In Any Language," after understudying Walter Matthau, who left the show to appear in "The Grey-Eyed People." This is Lonnie's fifth Broadway show. He has appeared in "Mister Roberts," "The Closing Door," "Come Back Little Sheba," "The Chase," and has had more than twenty TV assignments in New York.

As the Years Roll By'

Thirteen Alumni Occupy Positions In Joplin Public School System

Thirteen members of former classes of J. J. C. now work in the Joplin Public School System. Eleven of these are teachers and the other two are secretaries employed in school offices.

Celia Braeckel
Miss Celia Braeckel, class of 1950, now teaches Speech and Debate at Senior High School.

When Miss Braeckel was a freshman at Joplin Junior College, she was secretary of her class, a pledge to the Alpha Kappa Mu sorority, and a member of the W. A. A. the Y. W. C. A., and the Chorus.

In her sophomore year, she was Secretary of the Student Senate, President of Alpha Kappa Mu, Social Chairman of Y. W. C. A., and a candidate for Crossroads' Queen. She was also a member of the Chorus, Girls' Ensemble, College Players, Modern Language Club, Chart Staff, and Crossroads Staff.

After graduating from J. J. C., Celia went to Webster College.

Don Testerman
Coach Testerman, who teaches Biology at Joplin Senior High, is the assistant coach here at J. J. C. Following graduation in 1947, he attended S.M.S. at Springfield and K.S.T.C., Pittsburg.

As a student at J. J. C., Coach Testerman was especially active in sports. He was a member of the only championship basketball team the college has ever had and in 1947 was named all-state forward for the Missouri Junior College Conference.

Mr. and Mrs. Testerman (Charlotte Sayers) have two children—Michael, two years old, and Patricia, age five months.

Margaret Pendleton
Walking into the main office of Joplin Junior College, one will see another employee who studied here two years, Miss Margaret Pendleton. Miss Pendleton has been working in the office since she graduated in 1949.

While attending J. J. C., she was a member of the Y. W. C. A. and an honor-roll student.

Harold Thompson
Harold Thompson, who graduated from J. J. C. in 1948, now teaches Physical Education to the boys at South Junior High School. At J. J. C. Thompson was a member of the golf and tennis teams. In his second year here, the golf team won the State Championship at Trenton, Missouri. Thompson shot in the low 70's.

After J. J. C., Thompson attended S. M. S. at Springfield where he lettered in golf.

He is married to the former Betty Stokes, and they have a little girl named Beth Ann.

Floyd Leonard
The children of the fifth and sixth grades at Emerson School have Floyd Leonard as their Arithmetic, Health, and Science teacher. Leonard is a veteran who graduated from J. J. C. with the class of '48. From J. J. C. he went to Pittsburg State Teachers College.

When asked if he is happy in the choice of his profession, Leonard answered: "I like teaching because I am working with future citizens of America. Everyday is different, interesting. It presents a challenge. It is the type of work in which one can see his accomplishments."

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard have a boy, Joe, who is four years old.

Floyd E. Belk
One of the Social Science teachers at Joplin Senior High School is Floyd Belk. Belk graduated from J. J. C. in 1947 and then attended college at Pittsburg State.

While here at J. J. C., Belk was very active in athletics. He lettered both in football and basketball and one year he was captain of the football team. Besides being active in athletics, Belk was also active in other organizations. He was Vice-President of the freshman class, President of the Letter Club, and a member of the Student Senate.

Margaret Burke
Another busy person in the Joplin School System is Miss Margaret Burke, who works in the Finance Department at the Administration Building on Pearl Avenue between Eighth and Ninth Streets. Her job involves keeping the books for the school system and handling money, such as the cafeteria receipts and pay checks.

Miss Burke graduated from J. J. C. in 1947. For awhile she was secretary to the Dean here at J. J. C. She was Secretary of the Alumni Association in '48 and President of the Alumni Association in 1949.

Mrs. Rosamond B. Merker
Mrs. Rosamond Merker teaches Science to the eighth and ninth grades at East Junior High School. Mrs. Merker is the former Miss Rosamond Burke who graduated from J. J. C. in 1944.

While attending J. J. C. she was Exchange Editor for the Chart, President of the Teachers of Tomorrow, and President of the Alpha Kappa Mu sorority. She was also a member of the Y. W. C. A., the Band, and the International Relations Club.

Shirley Martin
Miss Shirley Martin teaches the second, third, fifth, and sixth grades at Longfellow School. After attending J. J. C., she went to Missouri University where she received her B. S. degree.

Miss Martin was a member of the Beta Beta Beta sorority and the Y. W. C. A. She was a candidate for both the Crossroads and Homecoming Queen, and during the year was named best looking and best dressed girl of the year.

Roger Duff
Teaching Arithmetic, Art, and Physical Education to the fifth and sixth grades at McKinley School is Roger Duff. Duff graduated from J. J. C. in 1948 and then went on to school at Springfield, Pittsburg, and Columbia.

James Dake May Be Able To Continue Education In Spring Semester

Sophomores and faculty members were pleased this week to receive a letter from James Dake, who reports that things are "looking a little brighter" and that he may be able to attend college next semester. After his graduation in May, 1952, he suffered another attack of arthritis which necessitated a cast and prevented his entering the University of Kansas this fall.

Duff entered college as a veteran and worked his way. He is now married and has a boy, George Edward who is twenty-three months old.

Charlotte Douglas
Teaching the second grade at West Central School is Miss Charlotte Douglas. Miss Douglas graduated from J. J. C. in 1949 and then studied at Pittsburg State.

When asked what she liked most about her work, Miss Douglas replied, "I like teaching because I feel I am doing something worth while. I believe the grade school teacher is one of the most important persons influencing a child's life."

Miss Douglas was a member of the Student Senate, Choir and Ensemble, Crossroads Staff, Beta Beta Beta sorority, Foreign Language Club, and participated in two plays, "Family Portrait" and "When the Cat's Away". She was also active in Y. W. C. A. work and represented the Y. W. one year at Estes Park in Colorado.

J. Franklin Edwards
J. Franklin Edwards teaches the fifth and sixth grades at Stapleton School, where he has been principal for the last five years. Edwards graduated from J. J. C. in 1942 and then went to Drury, where he received his A. B. degree, and the University of Iowa, where he received his Master's degree.

While attending J. J. C., Edwards was active in both debate and Y. M. C. A. work.

During 1949-1950, he was President of the Alumni Association.

Mrs. Helen T. Belford
Mrs. Helen T. Belford, who graduated from J. J. C. in 1941, is now teaching Reading, English, Physical Education, Geography, History, and Science to the fifth and sixth grades at Irving School.

Fourteen Alumni Receive Honors For Outstanding Scholarship at M. U.

Fourteen former students of Joplin Junior College were among those cited at the sixth honors convocation of the University of Missouri for high achievements in scholarship or special service. Honors convocation, held November 17 on the Columbia campus, recognized students who during the preceding year have attained the Deans' Honor List ranking in their respective schools or colleges for their superior grade averages, or those who have won scholarship, fellowship or graduate achievement awards.

Students honored and their awards follow:

Jerrol Dunham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Dunham, Carthage, Phi Beta Kappa, arts and science scholastic society; Larry Dunham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Dunham, Carthage, honor student in arts and science; Jack Gibson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Warner Gibson, Carthage, honor student in arts and science; Sam Snoddy, Jr., son of Mr. Sam Snoddy, Carthage, honor student in business and public administration.

Mary Ann Griffin, daughter of Mrs. Clara Marie Griffin, Joplin, honor student in agriculture; William H. Hesseltine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hesseltine, Joplin, honor student in arts and science; James Ned Jackson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Jackson, Joplin, honor student in agriculture, Gamma Sigma Delta; Willard Lee Kern, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Kern, Joplin, honor student in agriculture; Shirley Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Martin, Joplin, honor student in education; Merle Eugene Parmar, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Parmar, Joplin, honor student in engineering; James B. Porter, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Porter, Joplin, honor student in business and public administration; Wayne Irvin Tucker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kyle W. Tucker, Joplin, Alpha Kappa Psi, honor society for men in commerce.

Albert William Garrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo E. Garrison, Sarcouxie, honor student in business and public administration.

James Ytell, son of H. K. Ytell, Webb City, Gamma Alpha, graduate science society.

Dr. William A. Albrecit, chairman of the Soils Department of the University, delivered the convocation address. His subject was "Education vs. Training."

He was introduced by Jim Bone, president of the Student Government Association.

The J. J. C. Spread Formation

Music Club Members Display Versatility In First Program

Members of Theta Mu Gamma, honorary music fraternity in the college, pleased both faculty and students when they presented the first assembly program for November.

The following numbers were included:

"Someday" - Vocal solo by Donna Ackerman, accompanied by Cecilia Veatch.

"A Dedication" and "Post Ludium" - Piano solos by Cecilia Veatch.

"Green Hills of Ireland" - Vocal solo by Edwin Michael, Jr., accompanied by Barbara Brewer.

"Variations on 'Old Black Joe'" - Trombone solo by Harry Fay, accompanied by Barbara Brewer.

"Malaguena" - Piano solo by Virginia Ehrenman.

"Rondo from Concertino" - Oboe solo by Sara Gilstrap, accompanied by Barbara Brewer.

"Etude Fantastique" - Piano solo by Howard Hartley.

"Shadrach" - Vocal solo by Walt James, accompanied by Cecilia Veatch.

"Jet" - Piano solo by Frances Cullers.

"Stars in a Silvery Sky" - Trumpet trio, composed of Bill Byrd, Jim Harron, and Don Miller, accompanied by Sue Ranum.

"A Picture" and "Pillar of Love" - Vocal solos by Catherine Jones, accompanied by Barbara Brewer.

"Hall of the Mountain King" - Piano solo by John Braeckel.

Mr. Merrill Ellis sponsors the fraternity.

M. U. Quartet Gives Concert Before Large Audience

The University of Missouri String Quartet — Rogers Whitmore, first violin, Ruth Melcher Quant, second violin, George Wilson, viola, and Elizabeth Mulchy, cello — presented an interesting program in assembly Wednesday. While all are instructors or administrative officers on the university campus, the musicians yet find time to continue a full schedule of programs throughout the state.

Originated in 1934 to present concerts on the M. U. campus, the popular music group has also appeared before the Music Teachers Association, the Music Educators National Association, the National Association of Schools of Music, and others.

Their program included "Quartet K-387" by Mozart and "Quartet in F Major Op. 99 (American)" by Dvorak. After the regularly scheduled assembly, they entertained the music classes.

M. L. C. Commences Year With Chili Dinner At Home of Sponsor

The Modern Language Club began what has so far been one of its most interesting years at the home of its faculty sponsor, Mrs. Lillian Spangler, 772 Hampton Place, on October 29. After enjoying a delicious chili dinner, its members elected officers for the year. They are Martha Medcalf, president; Virginia Newby, vice-president; Joe Phillips, secretary. Before adjourning, the group decided to meet the first and third Wednesdays of each month at 7:00.

At the second dinner meeting which was held at the home of the new president, Martha Medcalf, on November 5, the group was entertained by Mrs. Everett Reniker who presented colored films taken in Great Britain, France, Germany, Italy, and other countries of Northern and Central Europe.

Convening at the home of Virginia Newby for their third dinner meeting, the club enjoyed a social evening. All students who are interested in languages and customs of other countries are cordially invited to attend these meetings.

Senators Go to Parsons For Council Conference

Mary Lou Gullette, Mary Brookshire, Diana Martin, Jim Gaskill, and Don Michael spent Wednesday in Parsons, Kansas, attending a regional Student Council Conference. They were accompanied by Miss Eula Ratekin, sponsor of the Student Senate.

The meeting began with a general assembly at which Attorney Jack L. Goodrich addressed the group on the subject "Opportunities for Development of Leadership in Youth." Group discussions of these topics followed: "Projects That a Student Council May Successfully Undertake," "Financing Student Senate Activities," "The Student Council and the Administration," and "What Should Be The Relationship Between the Student Council and Other Student and Community Organizations."

Representatives to the conference were guests of Parsons Junior College for lunch. The first invitational student council conference of this region was at Fort Scott in 1949. The group met here in 1950.

Boys Form New Vocal Ensemble In Music Classes

COMMUNITY CHORUS WILL PRESENT 'HYMN OF PRAISE' IN SPRING ORATORIO

According to Mr. Oliver Sov-erign, instructor of vocal ensemble music in J. J. C., the vocal groups of the college have planned a full schedule of activities for the remainder of the school year. Heading the list of vocal groups is the Mixed Chorus, one of the larger choirs in school history. This group will be featured in Thanksgiving and Christmas assemblies and will participate in the annual Joplin Music Festival combining with the Junior College Community Chorus and the Junior College Civic Symphony in the presentation of several miscellaneous programs and a production of Mendelssohn's oratorio "Hymn of Praise." This will take place in late spring. The Mixed Chorus also plans to make trips to various district high schools, offering a miscellaneous program.

For the first time in recent years, J. J. C. has a Boys' Ensemble. This group will accompany the Mixed Chorus, participating in high school and civic group programs. Members of the group include: Ed Michael and Ralph Green, tenors; Eldon Storer and Ken Latta, second tenors; Walt James and Ed Hill, baritones; and Bob Bealmear, John Braeckel, Johnny Green, basses. The accompanist is Cecilia Veatch.

The Girls Ensemble is again active this year and shows promise of offering the excellent work of last year. In the Triple Trio are Barbara Young, Frances Cullers, Catherine Jones, first sopranos; Marilyn Allen, Donna Ackerman, Pat Meredith, second sopranos; Martha Medcalf, Mary Lou Gullette, Mary Hodges, altos. Cecilia Veatch is the accompanist. The ensemble will participate in the Thanksgiving assembly, present an annual recital in the spring, and will appear before many civic groups as well as make the trips to district high schools with the choir.

Students Participate In Training Course For Christmas Jobs

Students of the College and of Joplin High School and adults attending night classes at the College have just finished a Christmas training program organized by Mr. Robert Stratton, instructor of distributive education at J. J. C., and taught by Mr. Earl Galloway, teacher of diversified occupation at Joplin High School.

Commencing November 3, the trainees met for two hours on six consecutive days at the college, the high school and college students meeting from 3:30 to 5:30, and the adults meeting from 7:30 to 9:30. Instruction included applying for a job, sales knowhow, care of stock, and making change.

Popular Belles Enter Into Myriad Activities Says Profile Writer

Using an ancient formula for choosing those who possess the qualities of beauty, intelligence, graciousness, and poise, the J. J. C. football team came up with five princesses to compete for the coveted title "Queen of the Homecoming." The fact that each girl has a charming personality all her own is going to make it difficult for the team to pick a winner.

First of the royal procession, listed alphabetically, is Mary Brookshire, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom C. Brookshire, 1506 Roosevelt. Mary is a cheerleader, a member of the Student Senate and the Choir, and a pledge to the Alpha Kappa Mu sorority.

Next is Amy Hobart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. F. Hobart, 3540 Joplin Street. Amy is a member of the Student Senate, a pledge to the Beta Beta Beta sorority, and is in the cast of "Light Up the Sky."

Joan Holman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Holman, route 4, Carthage, is the only sophomore candidate. She is a member of the Beta Beta Beta sorority and is on the staff of the Crossroads.

Diana Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eldridge Martin, 2307 Pearl, is a member of the Student Senate and the Choir, and is a pledge to Alpha Kappa Mu sorority. She plays the violin.

Suzie Stinson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Stinson, 2317 Virginia. Suzie is a cheerleader, a member of the Choir, and a pledge to the Beta Beta Beta sorority.

Y. W. C. A. Luncheon Club Invite Faculty Women To November Meeting

Women faculty members were guests of the Y. W. C. A. Luncheon Club at their first regular meeting in November. After the luncheon was served, the guests were introduced and an entertaining program followed.

The numbers included a piano solo by Virginia Ehrenman; a vocal solo by Catherine Jones, accompanied by Barbara Brewer at the piano, Diana Martin on the violin; and a reading by Martha Medcalf.

Science Class Goes To Pittsburg College For Planetary Study

The General Science class of J. J. C., accompanied by their instructor, Miss Eula Ratekin, journeyed to the State Teachers College at Pittsburg, Kansas, the other day to study the stars and planets through the telescope at the observatory. Although the night was not too clear, there were many interesting things to see — the "plaster of paris" moon, Jupiter, and Mars.

Professor R. W. Hart, who is an instructor of mathematics at K. S. T. C., talked to the students and explained some of the technicalities of the telescope. After looking through the telescope, everyone went out on the roof where Mr. Hart discussed the different stars and constellations, pointing them out with the aid of a powerful flashlight.

Members of the class who made the trip were Charles Kenney, James Kepple, Kenneth Magruder, Glen Reynolds, Evelyn Roy, Geraldine Taylor, Delores Walker, Robert Warren, Lois York, and Tom Ash. Those not in the science class who went were Jean Hogan, John Hardy, Richard Kugler, Stuart York, and Wanda York.

Instructors Hear Auden

Mrs. Catherine Selves, Miss Ada Coffey, and Miss Lela Smith went to Pittsburg last Wednesday evening to hear W. H. Auden's lecture on The Pickwick Papers of Charles Dickens.
